

THOMAS AZIER

Thomas Azier (NL) is a pop-electronic music artist, based in Berlin. After spending the past 4 years tirelessly honing his sound, Thomas Azier has emerged with his debut EP "Hylas 001", released on his own label Hylas Records/BMG Rights Management on January 13th, 2012.

Exploring the inherent power of pop and its ability to transcend, communicate, and affect on mass, Thomas Azier's epic sound is both nostalgic, and current; revisiting the sparkle and magic of the genre, so often ignored in the post-internet music era.

"Music has turned into nothing more than just a rush in the background while you are busy doing other things. I don't want to change that, but I try to make something that will catch your ear and communicate with you." - Azier

Thomas Azier recently co-wrote with German artist Casper on his #1 selling album XOXO, and collaborated with Timo Kaukolampi, head of the Finnish experimental beat rockers, K-X-P. The 24-year old multi-instrumentalist is now working on his own debut album, which will be following his first self produced EP "Hylas 001".
